

City of Bellevue

Inspection Site

For the immediate future the City is performing requested inspections, but we have directed our staff not to enter areas where social distancing and safety can't be achieved for the protection of everyone involved, or any parties display symptoms that are a concern. We are also planning ahead in case this continually evolving situation reaches the point we cannot conduct inspections, but for now we continue to deliver services. In the interest of protecting the health of all, we require any contractor or owner who requests an inspection to notify us in advance if anyone on the jobsite or in the building area where the inspection will occur has experienced any symptoms of concern relative to COVID-19, so that City management staff can determine if we can perform the inspection and ensure that inspectors are prepared to use appropriate Personal Protective Equipment (PPE).

City of Edmonds

Coronavirus \(COVID-19\)

Until further notice the City of Edmonds will not be providing building inspections inside occupied homes. There may be exceptions to this but only for special cases and by special arrangement with the inspector. There are no other limitations on inspections except for following social distancing guidelines.

City of Issaquah

Inspection restrictions are in effect to limit the spread of COVID-19. Please see the City of Issaquah's Inspection Page for up to date restriction information. Restrictions may change daily.

COVID-19 Response

Currently, PDS is performing most requested inspections. However, PDS is not providing mechanical or plumbing inspections in occupied residences. These inspections can be obtained by Skype or similar means. You will be contacted by your inspector with details. We are monitoring this continually evolving situation in case it reaches the point that we are unable to conduct inspections. For now we continue to deliver services. In the interest of protecting the health of all, we require any contractor or owner who requests an inspection to notify us in advance if anyone on the jobsite or in the building area where the inspection will occur has experienced any symptoms of concern relative to COVID-19, so that we can determine if we can perform the inspection and ensure that inspectors are prepared to use appropriate Personal Protective Equipment (PPE).
